

Synopsis

God Wood is a concept for sustainable forest management and social responsibility that not only deals with the forest management but also with forest products and their possible marketing on a high end market. We are having a research project, funded by the Swedish Research Council, studying "How good is Good Wood?" The research project is in cooperation with WWF Tanzania and have field sites in Tanzania and Mozambique.

We think there could be several opportunities for cooperation with interested scientist at SUA as well. Not least when it comes to PhD projects and the supervision thereof. In that there might also be possible linkages to the REFOREST Africa programme (in which I am the Swedish coordinator).

Hence; we would very much like to come to SUA, especially CFWT, to present the concept, our ideas and discuss contents and the possibilities for cooperation with SUA researchers.
